GoGold Pours First Silver-Gold Bar at Parral

GoGold Resources Ltd. (TSX: GGD), (GoGold), is pleased to announce that the company has poured its first silver-gold bar at its Parral Mine in Chihuahua, Mexico. Construction is within budget and on time. This significant event puts GoGold on a path to becoming a profitable silver-gold producer as the project moves towards full commercial production later this year. Parral will produce strong cash flow that will support continued growth for the company.

This is a major achievement for the company and a culmination of hard work from our employees in all areas of the company. GoGold's team along with MDM Engineering built the Parral Heap Leach Processing Facility from blue print to silver-gold production in only 7 months. This is the first mine in GoGold's plan to become a mid-tier producer as the company believes it can re-establish production at its newly acquired Santa Gertrudis gold mine in 2015.
